

Sweetness, Colour and Fun in Cute Little Promotional Products: The Full Potential of Our Personalised Lollipops

Contemporary society suggests the idea that, as we grow up, we must renounce to small pleasures, such as light-heartedness, relaxing or having fun. Nothing could be more wrong. Taking a break from the hectic life to appreciate the little things is very important to feel good about yourself. In fact, it helps you be more productive and live better, too. Of course, if a company that offers custom promotional products that make these moments of peace possible, it creates a solid and positive relationship with its audience and team.

It is a simple goal to achieve if you choose promotional corporate gifts which help relax and have fun, and which have normally nothing or little in common with the workplace. An example of this are personalised food products, small promotional accessories that evoke a home-like atmosphere. If you want to take your customers or employees not only to a familiar environment, but to the happiest moment of life too, nothing is more effective than personalised lollipops.

Personalised Gifts for Kids with an Old History: How Personalised Lollipops Were Created

Despite being intended mainly for children, custom printed lollipops have a huge success among adults as well. Combining sweetness with a colourful and playful look, these items are ideal for any company that wants to present itself as attentive to the needs of its team and customers. If your brand distributes promotional personalised lollipops, you will show that you care not only about productivity, but also about the well-being of your employees. For customers, these custom promotional products will prove that the brand aims to give them the best possible experience, both inside and outside its walls.

We all know lollipops: they are sweet and colourful candies placed at one end of a stick. But do you know when they were invented? These small sweets actually have a far more distant origin than we would imagine, despite having undergone several reinventions over the centuries. It seems that the idea of using a stick to enjoy a dessert even dates back to prehistoric times. It was a ploy adopted by our ancestors not to get their hands dirty while eating honey. It was however Mr. George Smith who invented the modern lollipop, patenting it in 1931.

But how can this information come in handy when you think of printed lollipops as possible promotional products or corporate gifts for your business? An original and impactful idea can be to create complete corporate gifts by distributing your custom lollipops inside personalised gift boxes or printed paper bags together with cards containing these brief historical facts. The result will be very positive for marketing. Besides providing your customers or event participants with information that is probably new and interesting, you will give the image of a brand that manages to amaze thanks to its attention to detail.

Personalised Lollipops as Promotional Gifts: Corporate Gifts and Giveaways to Thank Employees and Customers

Like all personalised sweets, custom lollipops too are exceptionally successful when employed as promotional products. Not only can you offer your employees a sweet break from work with these promotional gifts, but printed lollipops prove to be the favourite corporate gifts for hotels, B&Bs and any company that wants to thank customers for choosing its products or services as well. Custom printed lollipops are the promotional sweets that recall childhood par excellence. For this reason, they immediately establish a family relationship between those who distribute them and those who receive them.

The Promotional Impact of Personalised Lollipops on Employees and Customers: Why They Are Suitable for All Targets as Corporate Gifts

The strength of our personalised lollipops lies in their taste, but also – and above all – in their appearance. Just like custom sweets and confectionery, printed lollipops are colourful and available in various shapes and sizes. In this way, they are connected from the first glance with an idea of fun, light-heartedness, and joy that neither the team nor the customer will be able to give up. As a direct consequence, our promotional custom lollipops will leave a memory of your company as friendly and almost motherly. By doing so, they will attribute to the brand an image of family that favours the inter-company relationship – and not only. Customers too will feel like belonging to the brand after receiving your personalised lollipops with logo. So, they will not hesitate to turn to your business again, because they will feel somehow connected to it.

Our promotional custom lollipops then come up as fun and original corporate gifts and promotional products, and as such, everyone loves them. They inspire sympathy in adults, making them come back to childhood and giving them a moment of pause from their hectic lives. Needless to say, personalised lollipops are an almost mandatory choice when the target is made up of children. Kids love lollipops and will appreciate them even more if they are personalised in a way that suits their age. For instance, you can add a witty phrase, the image of the most popular superhero of the moment, or the logo of your recreation centre or shop reproduced in a nice and fun way. Winning the children's heart means earning the trust of their parents, which translates into a very high probability of seeing your little customers again several times.

Cute Corporate Gifts and Maximum Versatility: How to Give Away Promotional Personalised Lollipops

Originality and friendliness are the qualities that distinguish custom printed lollipops. It is because of these factors that they perfectly fit any occasion as corporate gifts and promotional products. Like personalised sweet bags, custom lollipops can be offered to customers who have just tried one of your services or purchased one of your products. Anyway, they are ideal gifts for employees when Christmas approaches or on a corporate anniversary, too. Also, they prove to be original and playful souvenirs for tourists. It is worth noting that personalised lollipops go well in summer as well, as they reproduce its bright and lively colours.

There are several ways to take advantage of the potential of custom lollipops as promotional products. They can be placed in special boules on the reception counter or on the lobby tables, along with other sweets such as custom mints and personalised chocolates. However, you can offer them to new hires inside the welcome kit as well. In this case, you can combine them with custom mugs or personalised water bottles, so that the new employee immediately feels like an effective member of your company team.

Moreover, personalised lollipops are outstanding as gifts for events. From private ceremonies to company parties, custom printed lollipops come up as the ideal solution to thank employees, customers, and guests. Anyone can make some personalised lollipops for a wedding. Not to mention birthdays and, in general, events whose protagonists are children. They can be distributed as prizes for competitions too, with the organiser's logo in plain sight. Besides looking nice and being unbeatably delicious, then, printed lollipops present another very important quality: they are versatile.

Whether you customise them with the corporate logo to use them as promotional products or corporate gifts, or whether you print the name of the birthday boy or the initials of the bridal pair, personalised lollipops are perfect to thank anyone.

Plus, you can print phrases and photos on the paper that wraps them. This is a fruitful strategy if you want to make sure that your custom lollipops are in line with the occasion during which they will be offered. By choosing the colours, shapes and sizes you can create printed lollipops tailored to your promotional campaign, your corporate event or your party with friends and family. Whatever the context, your personalised lollipops will bring a breath of joy!