

Personalised water bottles are premium corporate gifts for companies. They have all the features of a successful product. They are useful, versatile, and available in diverse designs. Moreover, they have a large print area. It is no coincidence that they belong to the most requested personalised promotional products. They are suitable for any season, pleasant to look at, and allow you to customise the entire surface. In this way, they ensure maximum visibility to the company logo or slogan.

Water bottles have a great communicative power even if they are not customised. They are among the most effective tools against the use of plastic and help fight the environmental disasters that result from it. More comfortable than disposable bottles, they require no great effort, unlike other green alternatives.

Using personalised water bottles as corporate gifts is a winning move from all points of view. These products can communicate your interest in the environmental issue. Moreover, thanks to them you can actively take part in reducing the impact of human activities on the planet. Water bottles are always useful, on the beach and in the mountains, at work and at university. They will spread your brand with great speed and communicative effectiveness.

On HiGift there are several models of personalised water bottles divided into subcategories. The variety will satisfy all tastes and meet every need.

Aluminium Water Bottles

Personalised aluminium water bottles last over time thanks to the resistant material that compose them. They are suitable for any occasion, even for sports activities. Unlike metal water bottles, they are lightweight. They combine a material of excellent quality with the practicality of use. You can personalise aluminium water bottles with engraving or digital printing, depending on the model. Both techniques guarantee precise results. Engraving, in particular, will give the article a refined appearance.

Sports Bottles

This category of personalised water bottles includes models of varied materials, but they have a common feature: they are designed for sports. Attention to physical health is increasing, and movement has become part of everyday life. It is a way to keep the body healthy. Sports bottles are essential for those who practice yoga, jogging, CrossFit, or any sport. However, they are also useful for those who take a walk and want to bring a practical accessory with them. The main advantage is that they are comfortable to use and carry around, which makes them perfect personalised promotional products.

Thermal bottles

In summer as well as in winter, keeping drinks temperature can make a difference. Thermal water bottles perform this function. It is probably for this uniqueness that they are so successful. By distributing them to customers and collaborators, you can count on a performative personalised promotional product. They can sip a hot tea in winter, while sitting among the university desks or in the office. Or they can use them in sultry summer days, to enjoy fresh water. In other words, these personalised water bottles are perfect corporate gifts.

Metal bottles

Their design is elegant, and they are among the most popular personalised corporate gifts. The main advantage of metal water bottles is their longevity. They are resistant to the point that they seem indestructible. Thanks to the excellent quality materials of which they are made, they maintain their effectiveness for several years. As a consequence, they guarantee the company unlimited advertising. You can personalise metal water bottles with engraving or digital printing. There are many possibilities to make them original corporate gifts and turn them into true promoters of the brand. Only flaw: they are heavier than the other types.

Plastic water bottles

Plastic water bottles, on the other hand, are lightweight and practical to carry around. Despite the material of which they are made, they are a valid green alternative to disposable bottles. As you can use them repeatedly, they help reduce the environmental impact of plastic. There are eco-friendly options as well, made with biodegradable materials. Lightweight is one of the main advantages of this model. For this reason, you can use them in sports or during a walk. Digital printing techniques will render details and, in some cases, colours on your personalised water bottles in high definition.

Glass water bottles

Glass water bottles are a pass-partout for all companies that want to promote a green image and convey their interest in the environmental issue. Managers often give these personalised corporate gifts to their employees. They thus encourage the use of eco-friendly products starting from their work context. In this case, too, you can find articles which have an elegant design and are practical to use. Contrary to what you might think, personalised water bottles made of glass are resistant and versatile. The surface is suitable for digital printing. You can expect a result rich in details and of great aesthetic and communicative impact.

Eco friendly water bottles

This category includes personalised water bottles made of alternative materials. They contribute to the fight against climate change. Each model has distinctive features depending on the composition and allows different printing techniques. These accessories share a common feature: they promote a sustainable lifestyle. The innovative materials make eco-friendly water bottles interesting alternatives. Nonetheless, some people may still not know about their existence. By distributing these personalised corporate gifts, you have the opportunity to spread greater awareness about the green options available, while providing useful tools to say goodbye to disposable plastic.
